

Esports Outliers

By Justin Orellana

Esports

The world of Esports may be coming to a halt, over the years we are going to see if the amount of money people are making is going down or if people are overexaggerating. We will see if the amount of money earned is above 500,000.

- The world of esports is new and is being developed
- These past years the world of esports has been declining
- Decline is seen with the amount of money in the scene
- Decline is measured this way as it shows investors are still interested
- A couple of outliers can make it seem that the industry is still staying healthy
- We need to check the overall to see if Esports in general is doing okay.
